Dear Admiral Turner:

By letters dated August 8, 1977, addressed to you and the Heads of 41 other Federal agencies, I suggested that a high-level interagency committee be established to provide appropriate Federal coordination and policy guidance in metric activities and to serve as liaison with the U.S. Metric Board. Enclosed with each letter was a draft charter for such a high-level Interagency Committee on Metric Policy (ICMP). My letter requested agency views on the proposed establishment of this Committee by the Department of Commerce and for comments, if any, on the proposed charter. I proposed to establish the Committee for an initial two-year period, provided that agency responses supported such action.

I am pleased to say that the great majority of the agency responses to the letter of August 8, 1977, supported the establishment of the Committee, and I am therefore proceeding to institute it. This action will be quite timely, since the Committee will be expected to interact with the U.S. Metric Board created by P.L. 94-168. On October 28, 1977, the President submitted to the Senate for confirmation his nominations for membership on the Board.

Included in the responses were some suggested modifications to the Committee charter. Careful consideration has been given to all these suggestions. Most of them have been accepted and incorporated into the revised charter (enclosed). Two of the most significant of these proposed changes, and their resolution in the revised charter, are as follows:

1. Several agencies anticipated difficulty in meeting the stipulated minimum grade level requirements for their Committee representatives and/or alternates. Although it is believed that Committee representatives must be of a sufficiently high level to discuss and act effectively upon broad policy matters, some modifications to the minimum grade levels have been made. Accordingly, the revised charter provides that:

- a. Representatives of Federal departments must hold a rank of not less than "Level IV" (no change from the original charter), while their alternates may be not less than GS-16 (a change from GS-17).
- b. Regarding Federal agencies (i.e., not full departments), there is no stipulated minimum grade level requirement for representatives or alternates. However, the revised charter states that such representatives shall be of a sufficiently high level to carry out effectively the objectives and functions of the Committee. (The original draft charter required a minimum of "Level IV" for representatives and GS-17 for alternates.)

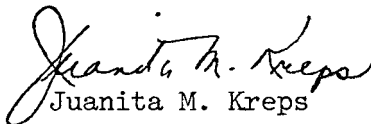

2. Some agencies indicated a desire to participate in an "advisory" or "observer" capacity. Accordingly, the revised charter provides for "non-voting observer" membership. There are no minimum grade level requirements for observers.

The one remaining task is for Federal departments and agencies to appoint their representatives, and alternates if any, to the Committee. I realize that some departments and agencies named representatives in their responses to my letter of August 8, 1977. However, in view of the new provisions in the revised charter concerning (a) grade level requirements of representatives, and (b) the new "non-voting observer" status, I am requesting that the Head of each agency wishing to participate in the Interagency Committee on Metric Policy indicate/confirm to me by January 6, 1978, if possible:

1. the name, address, and telephone number of your representative, and alternate if any, and
2. whether your department or agency wishes to participate as a voting member, or whether it wishes to participate as a non-voting observer member.

We plan to incorporate the names of the member departments and agencies into the charter, as either "voting members" or "non-voting observer members." A copy of the signed charter will be transmitted directly to departmental and agency representatives by the Chairman of the Committee, my Assistant Secretary for Science and Technology, Dr. Jordan J. Baruch.

Sincerely,

Juanita M. Kreps
